Sen. Harding Stops and Talks in Janesville

HUNDREDS PERISH IN QUAKE DISASTER IN ITALY TUESDAY

DEATH TOLL GROWS AS RESCUE WORK PROGRESSES SLOWLY.

CITIES SHATTERED

New Shocks Felt in Florence, Tumbling Structures Fall.

Rome, Sept. 8.—Another violent earthquake in the Emilia district at 2:35 o'clock this morning, causing the loss of lives and important damage.

Rome, Sept. 8.—Hundreds perished in the earthquake disaster which shattered cities and villages north of Florence Tuesday. Governmental and private relief agencies are engaged in aiding survivors and searching for victims who may still be alive, but the work is handicapped by difficulty in reaching many of the ruined towns, which are in the mountains and almost inaccessible. Electric light wires are broken and work must stop at night.

New Shocks Felt

New shocks, but none of the intensity of the one which caused the widespread destruction Tuesday, have been felt in Florence and the surrounding neighborhood. These have shaken down tottering structures and further delayed the work of rescuers.

Episcopal is Terrible.

The upheaval was terrible in the famous quarries district of Carrara from which comes the finest specimens of marble. Great rocks, rolled down steep roads leading into the hills, crushing everything in their path.

A tragic memorable scene, was enacted at Marina di Carrara, where a church where masses were being celebrated. Father Grignani, the pastor, had just read the last of the service when the ceiling of the edifice fell upon the congregation, killing many. The priest was struck by falling debris and his hands and face were cut, but he bravely finished the service before attending the injuries of those killed.

Killed at Mass.

Less fortunate was Father Riccardo Bruscolletto, at Casertano, who was killed while celebrating mass. Father Benedetti sent a telegram to Cardinal Pecci, archbishop of Pisa, asking him to go into the earthquake zone and distribute supplies. Word came that before the pontiff's telegram arrived the cardinal had left for the devastated district.

NUMBER OF DEAD IS STEADILY GROWING

Florence, Sept. 9.—The number of dead from Tuesday's earthquake is steadily growing as additional reports come in. The latest total of dead there alone up to 422, while in Liguria 124 are dead and about 1,000 injured.

King Views Ruins in Path of Earthquake

Plavazano, Sept. 9.—King Victor Emmanuel visited this city by the earthquake which Tuesday shook northern Italy to its center. He went into every quarter and viewed the ruins whose crumbling walls threatened to fall if another tremor should come, and talked with survivors, expressing his profound grief over the misfortune and his sympathy for the suffering and the bereaved.

G. O. P. Candidate Goes Through City, Gives Brief Talk

Republican Nominee Passes Through Janesville on Way Home From Minnesota State Fair; 600 Enthusiastic Supporters Greet Him.

Senator Warren G. Harding, republican nominee for president, passed through Janesville this morning at 9:10 o'clock on his way to Marion, O., his home. He is returning from St. Paul, where he spoke at the Minnesota State fair yesterday.

Word that Harding's car was being pulled by the Chicago train did not reach the Gazette until 8:30 this morning when bulletins were immediately posted in the business district and prominent Janesville republicans notified. The report was confirmed by the local Northwestern station at 8:50.

Despite the drizzly rain, about 600 cheering Janesville republicans crowded around the platform of the Harding car as the nominee, smiling and nodding stepped out to greet the people. He laughed cordially as he shook hands with the men and women that pushed close to the car to speak to him.

His wife, who shared the nominee's geniality, shaking hands and talking with the crowd.

Mr. Harding's arrival was unheralded. The senator was coming. That was all the crowd knew.

Mr. Harding, before she reached Janesville, was the only woman in the crowd. She is of the best, but not an aristocrat. This was the general opinion gleaned from various observers who saw the wife of the republican presidential nominee here this morning.

RAID MCKEIGUE'S PLACE AND FIND "MEDICINE" BOOZE

"BEEF, IRON AND WINE" SOLD AT QUARTER A DRINK.

ARRESTS FOLLOW

"Vile Hole" Says Federal Prohibition Agent Who Makes Raid.

Federal prohibition agents swooped down on Tim J. McKeligue's saloon on South River street at 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in an unexpected raid and discovered one man laid out on the floor of a back room in a drunken stupor, two more in a helpless and intoxicated condition in a room upstairs, and seven out of 10 at the bar were under the influence of liquor.

Beef, Iron and Wine.

Before declaring themselves, the agents, two in number, bought two drinks without any difficulty of "beef, iron and wine," a drink containing 20 per cent alcohol and supposed to be sold for medicinal use only. They paid 25 cents for each glass.

Flashing a search warrant, the agents state that they caught McKeligue, who was sitting at the bar, and two bottles of the stuff were found locked in a safe with one bottle of wine of peppin containing 25 per cent alcohol.

Though no arrests were made, they are expected in a few days.

Toughest in Town.

"McKeligue's place is the toughest joint in town," said a prohibition agent. "It is a vile hole. We picked it out for our work as the 'cream' of the town. We found empty beer, iron and wine bottles, and a lot of other things. The place was well stocked and that they did a good business. It was well kept up with no attempt at concealment. The place was in the upstairs room, we found poker chips, cards and other gambling paraphernalia, although our job is not to look for such things.

The city needs a cleaning up," said Leary. "We started our investigation Sept. 8 and have discovered that practically every saloon is doing a business in intoxicating liquors. There is another thing. There is some moonshine in the city, which I believe is being made in this vicinity. Whiskey and beer can also be had without any trouble."

Evades the Law.

The stuff which was found Wednesday is permitted to be manufactured for medicinal use. Every bottle that goes out is labeled "for medicinal use only." McKeligue was found to be true of those found at McKeligue's place. Leary stated that such labeling by the manufacturers is only a means taken by them to evade the law and continue making it. It is about 50 proof, and is practically a poor whiskey.

Up to U. S. Marshal.

The three bottles taken by the prohibition agents have been sent to the United States marshal at Madison. The next step is up to him. McKeligue can be held on three charges: selling intoxicating liquors, selling adulterated liquors, and selling liquor to minors. The counts are: selling intoxicating liquor, possession of intoxicating liquor and running a public nuisance.

Gov. Cox Argues in Behalf of League on Montana Trip

Helena, Mont., Sept. 9.—Argument in behalf of the league of nations adapted to affairs of the Gov. presented here today by Gov. Alexander, democratic presidential candidate.

It has been figured," said the governor, "that the cost of one battle-ship would reclaim two million acres of land."

Multiply this by 48, the number of states, adopting the plan of one battle-ship for each state, and you have a staggering total, and, if properly applied, the answer to the problem of housing in our cities, the production of food, the production of clothing, the production of human life. The expenditure required in the production of food, clothing, and human life would build 30 permanent paved arteries entirely across the United States.

The governor's speech here, after a national tour, was the first of his campaign. He came here from Great Falls and was scheduled to spend today at Anaconda and at Butte tonight.

Urging the league, Governor Cox told his Helena audience that "as a nation of quitters, self-prosperous and self-satisfied while our associates are starving to death."

He said that the league of nations would be a "great step forward" and that it would be a "great step forward" and that it would be a "great step forward."

$2 Is Net Profit to City off Circus

A license fee of $100 was paid by Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey circus for exhibiting here August 24.

The city paid out $88 for special police that day leaving a net profit to the city of $12. Sixteen special police worked at $5.50 a day while Fred Gilman, Evansville, was paid $10 for working as a plainclothes man day and night.

The cost for special police on Labor day was $22.

The city clerk was instructed by the council Wednesday night to pay off the men.

Drive in Cities

Reading from a document produced by Mr. Blair, which was sent out in lieu of the much discussed "form 101," Senator Reed brought out that the treasurer's office had been authorized to organize drives in 54 cities, three more than the Ohio governor mentioned at Pittsburgh.

From the same document Senator Reed read that the local chairman appointed in each city was to accept the quota placed upon the city by the national treasurer.

Mr. Blair did that to my knowledge," Mr. Blair interjected. He explained that the plan in his mind was to have the local chairman select local chairmen in cities, who then would be confirmed by Mr. Blair.

Mr. Blair should pass on to the local chairman a city quota suggested by the state head.

His testimony showed that the idea which he had in his mind were rejected by his superiors when placed on paper, which was the fate of "Form 101."

Mr. Blair produced a copy of that form and when compared to the copy which Gov. Cox had sent to the committee, the governor's copy was found to be incomplete.

A paragraph missing in the governor's copy suggested that contributions of $5,000 to $10,000 be made by the local chairmen. The $1,000 limit fixed by Chairman Hays. The copy furnished by the governor merely suggested that the local chairmen contribute upwards of $5,000.

Campaign Plan Drive.

While he planned drives in 54 cities, Mr. Blair said, it was found impossible to carry out the program because of local conditions in some places.

Senator Reed attempted to bring out that the documents which Mr. Blair had produced, which were not intended for that purpose and asked how Dudley S. Blossom, of Cleveland, had been able to follow the form, exactly, if he had never seen it.

Mr. Blair explained that the campaign plan was commonly used for many drives for hospitals, Y. M. C. buildings and in war drives.

MAC SWINEY WILL YOUTH CRUSHED TO STARVE TO FINISH DEATH BY TRUCK

Sister Says Mayor Will Not Give Up Principle of His Life.

London, Sept. 9.—Lord Mayor MacSwiney, of Cork, who has been on a hunger strike in Brixton since August 12, passed a bad night and complained this morning of dizziness according to a bulletin issued today by the Irish Self-Determination League. He experienced numbness in his legs and arms and a physician who attended him considered him much weaker than yesterday.

Crisis in Few Days

The lord mayor was visited last night by Father Patrick MacSwiney, a cousin who said he was surprised to find the prisoner so well. He expressed the belief that the crisis would not come for 3 or 4 days.

The noon bulletin issued by the league stated that signs of atrophy on the skin had appeared and that as a consequence the mayor's arms were being massaged to keep them from becoming paralyzed.

In Grave Condition

After visiting Mayor MacSwiney last evening, the prison doctor told his sister, Annie MacSwiney, that her brother was in a very grave condition according to a statement issued to the league today and there could be only one end to his continued hunger strike.

The doctor asked Miss MacSwiney if nothing could be done—if she could not appeal to the mayor, continue the statement. She replied she would not ask her brother to give up the principle of his life; that England had no right to imprison him, and that he could not submit to England's imprisonment without acknowledging her right to deprive him of his liberty.

Will Not Give Up

The doctor suggested the republican body in Ireland be asked to order the lord mayor to surrender, and he, being a disciplined man, would obey. Miss Annie said the republican parliament in Ireland could not more order her brother to give up his fight than the English government during the late war could order a soldier to throw down his rifle and run away.

She said she had said: "No such will come from the Daily Freeman, and if it came I wouldn't obey it."

POPE INTERCEDES

Rome, Sept. 9.—The pope has intervened in behalf of Lord Mayor MacSwiney, now in Brixton prison, London, according to the Giornale D'Italia.

SENATOR HAS BIG VOTE IN ALL PARTS OF WISCONSIN

BLAINE FORGES AHEAD WITH MANY CENTRAL COUNTIES.

SEAMAN IS THIRD

Morgan Nominated for Attorney General and Johnson Treasurer.

Milwaukee, Sept. 9.—Senator Lenroot is nominated for the United States senate by a plurality that may reach over 30,000, beating the nonpartisan league and La Follette candidate generally in the voting all over the state.

Roy P. Wilcox is defeated for the governorship by a plurality for John J. Blaine, that may be above 5,000.

The tabulations of the Milwaukee Journal at noon showed that with over 100 precincts behind the vote was Wilcox 93,633, and Blaine 92,344.

Blaine's newspaper organ, the Milwaukee Capital Times, announces that from all returns from every county except Adams, Marquette, Price, St. Croix and Vilas the figures show Blaine with 100,240 and Wilcox 91,979.

Immediate steps have been started to organize the republicans of the state to elect an independent ticket in the field or to organize for the support of Col. Robert McCreary the democratic candidate for governor.

The combined vote of the candidates opposed to La Follette and the nonpartisan league is so large that republicans here today have hopes of electing any man who may be made the independent candidate.

Lenroot Victory Gratifying

Senator Lenroot's victory gives headquarters here the keenest gratification as he was the target for the assaults of the senior senator during the last three weeks of the campaign.

On the remainder of the state ticket it appears that John J. Blaine, state treasurer and that Morgan has won for attorney general with the other offices close and in doubt. Comings places ran ahead of Blaine, but lost out in the cities, where Dyerett was a favorite even over Pullen.

Seaman and Third.

Seaman followed at behind Wilcox and pulled topped Dittmar by 15,000 votes. The order of finish in the voting was: Blaine, Wilcox, Seaman, Hull, Dittmar, Johnson, and Comings. Seaman has been nominated for secretary of state over Harrington of Walworth county.

TOM WATSON WINS IN GEORGIA RACE

GERMAN MONOPOLY ON RARE CHEMICALS HAS BEEN BROKEN

Chicago, Sept. 9.—The German monopoly on rare chemicals used in research and experiments has been broken, according to statements today by Dr. H. T. Clarke, of Rochester, N. Y., before the organic division of the American Chemical society in session here. Before the war, the products of the chemicals essential to laboratory work were made exclusively in Germany, but now 800 of these rare chemicals are American made, Dr. Clarke said.

RED STRENGTH OF REDS GREATLY REDUCED

Washington, Sept. 9.—Rift strength of the bolshevik army on the Polish front was reduced by more than one half as a result of the Polish counter-offensive, according to reports today in official circles. The soviet armies had advanced to within 100 miles of Warsaw, but have suffered heavily from desertions. HARDING IS WELL LIKED BY CROWDS

Senator Makes Hit As He Travels from Marion to St. Paul.

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1920, by the Janesville Gazette.

St. Paul, Sept. 8.—Senator Harding, on his way to the front porch, is as likable a personality as has ever been seen in the crowd. He is as likable a personality as has ever been seen in the crowd. He is as likable a personality as has ever been seen in the crowd.

After traveling from Marion to St. Paul with Senator Harding on this, his first adventure out of the front porch, he is as likable a personality as has ever been seen in the crowd. He is as likable a personality as has ever been seen in the crowd.

And when Senator Harding comes out and shakes hands with the crowd, he is as likable a personality as has ever been seen in the crowd. He is as likable a personality as has ever been seen in the crowd.

Meanwhile the republican leaders are thinking up schedules for Senator Harding to follow, and the republican leaders are thinking up schedules for Senator Harding to follow.

By staying at home, thus far, Mr. Harding has kept free from the usual campaign schedule. He is as likable a personality as has ever been seen in the crowd.

Senator Harding didn't like the idea of talking to a grandstand to an outdoor crowd. The state fair invited all the candidates. Two days ago Gov. Cox spoke from the same grandstand. Crowds came to see horse races and other sports at a state fair are usually content with the look at the celebrities and then the political organizations didn't take the senator in hand until afternoon.

Wrote Speech With Care
The senator had mapped out his single address with the utmost care, but naturally didn't relish the idea of reading it to an outdoor crowd moving about impatiently, either because of inability to hear or special interest in other features of the program. Still that's what always happens at state fairs.

Hard on Speaker
Senator Harding's effort to read a long discourse on agricultural matters to a crowd from the state fair grandstand was a severe test on his speech away from the front porch at Marion. Indeed were it not for the pleasant incidents along the route he would have gone home with an inclination against further trips like this. He expressed his regret that the local committee didn't get a small hall for the occasion, but arrangements were entirely in the hands of the state fair board. The political organizations didn't take the senator in hand until afternoon.

THIEVES WRITE TO MAN THEY ROBBED

New York, Sept. 8.—Philip S. Smith, president of the United Auto Loan company, who was robbed of $5,000 in money Wednesday received an anonymous letter, giving the impression it was written and mailed by one of the holdup men. The letter, dated Sept. 6, according to the postmark, and reads as follows:

"You should not be in such a big city. If I see you again, you should be under the guidance of a marshal or a sheriff. No brains for a guy like you in a big city. You should make your exit and go to some small town. You would probably be better off. I got the $17,500. I should worry. Ta, ta, good-bye."

Kentuckian Born Before Republic Started Is Hale and Hearty Still

Lexington, Ky.—On September 3, next, "Uncle John" Shell of Greasy Creek, Leslie county, Ky., the oldest living human being, will enter upon his one hundred and thirty-third year.

Of his one hundred and thirty-third birthday, "Uncle John," then in Lexington as the guest of the Blue Grass Fair Association, in attending the board of commerce, of which he was a guest of honor at luncheon, said he was "beginning to get old," and did not expect to live until his next birthday.

But, according to all reports from the Greasy Creek section, "Uncle John" is not only still alive but there has been no noticeable diminution in his faculties though it may be that he is just a little more feeble and that his legs do not carry him quite as strongly as they did when he was in Lexington, where he could hobble around surprisingly well, using his cane as a support.

"Uncle John" made a long pilgrimage last year, when the Blue Grass Fair Association brought him to come here as its guest for the season. And from here he went to the state fair at Louisville, and also visited Knoxville, Tenn.

In Lexington, Louisville and Knoxville he saw his first automobiles, his first airplanes, his first movies, his first theater of any sort, and with his eyes, glowing brightly from their deep sockets, like little red balls, tried to count the stories in the big buildings he saw.

He saw girls dressed in the high style of fashion for the first time, rode in the automobiles and airplanes, he was photographed in almost every conceivable posture, and he said he had the time of his life.

Remembers George Washington.
And "his man," who lived when George Washington was alive, when the nation was young, when the nation was young, when the nation was young.

There is no doubt that "Uncle John" is one hundred and thirty-two years old. He told the writer and several others that he was born in 1788, told him he had seen Daniel Boone, had seen Indians who were wild, who links three centuries, bids fair to live a goodly time longer.

He is still able to ride horseback, and occasionally he rides into Hayden, the county seat of Leslie county. But there is the certainty that he has faded considerably the past year. His long trip out into "civilization" contributed to this. Telling in that hallow hollow along Greasy Creek, where there are bound to be only a few worries, where the pure mountain air curls around him, and where he is shut off from the activities and perplexities and dangers of life in towns, there is no reason one could not live a much longer time than he has.

"Uncle John" is a native of Pennsylvania. His ancestors coming from Holland. The great Dutch Shell family of old migrants had come to this country in the early days of settlement. He has been visited by hundreds of people, and has been the recipient of almost untold inquiries concerning himself. He has friends who have looked after the written word for him, but the callers have tired the aged man very much.

John Shell was too old to enlist in the Mexican war, a United States enlistment officer turned him down, one of course he was too old to enlist in the Civil war. So he remained in his beloved hills—to live until he is the oldest human being.

There are no many reasons to believe "Uncle John's" claim that he is 132 years old. It is almost useless to quote authorities. However, one man who is known all over Kentucky—Capt. J. L. McCoy, now editor of the News at Pikeville, Ky.—said he spent several months at "Uncle John's" home more than thirty years ago, and that "Uncle John" was more than one hundred years old then.

She Chews Tobacco And Has the Right

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 8.—A woman asked W. H. Scott, recently appointed policeman, how to reach an address Wednesday night. Scott told her, "Thanks," said the woman, and reaching into a pocket of her coat, took out a plug of tobacco and bit off a chew.

Scott arrested her on a charge of disturbing the peace. In municipal court Judge John M. Kennedy dismissed the case. "If women may chew, why should I?" he chewed?" inquired the judge.

"Uncle John" Shell in an airplane.

Some time ago, a writer, in the Saturday Evening Post told of having a Kentucky rifle, which was made by John Shell about 1808. "Uncle John" told the writer that he and his father made these rifles, and that he put his name on the rifles he made.

"Uncle John" is a native of Pennsylvania. His ancestors coming from Holland. The great Dutch Shell family of old migrants had come to this country in the early days of settlement. He has been visited by hundreds of people, and has been the recipient of almost untold inquiries concerning himself.

ONE MORE BLOW TO COX CHARGES

"Circular 101" On Which He Bases Statement Never Used by Republicans.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—Harry M. Blair of White Plains, N. Y., assistant to Treasurer Frederic W. Upham of the Republican national committee, yesterday admitted "to the senatorial committee investigating campaign expenditures that he was responsible for some of the ammunition which Gov. James M. Cox is firing at the Republicans."

Form 101

He told the committee the story of the now famous "Form 101" letter from which Gov. Cox has been reading to audiences throughout the country. This letter purports to be a circular issued from Republican headquarters to men engaged in raising funds throughout the country. It purports to list the $1,000 limit placed on campaign contributions by Chairman Will F. Hayes and call for contributions of from $5,000 to $10,000.

The circular also contains instructions to the fund raisers to preserve secrecy about their operations and to exercise caution against any scrap of paper bearing upon them, finding way into the hands of "those who may give them publicity."

No One Received It

Throughout the hearing in the federal building, the Democratic members of the senatorial subcommittee have been endeavoring to drag from witnesses admissions that they had received the bulletin. These efforts have been unsuccessful.

Blair explained why. In brief, his story was that of looking the hard after the house was stolen.

"Form 101," he admitted, had been prepared and approved by him in just the language quoted by Gov. Cox in his speeches. He had conceived the idea of raising the limit on campaign contributions by his own authority, without consulting officers of the committee.

Plan Is Rejected

"The time was so brief that decisions were had to be taken," he explained. Then, confident that officers and members of the Republican national committee would be overjoyed with his zeal, Mr. Blair, in company with Mr. Upham, started for New York with copies of "Form 101" in his grip. The others were left in his Chicago office.

In New York the "Form 101" letter, contemplating, as it did, a radical departure from the Republican plan of campaign, was rejected.

BETTER PAY SCHOOLS OF STATE SUPPLIED

Madison.—High school and all the better paying positions in Wisconsin have been taken care of, but there probably will be a shortage of about 500 teachers in the rural districts of Wisconsin this fall, according to C. P. Cary, state superintendent.

To meet the situation, Mr. Cary says it probably will be necessary to issue about that number of special licenses for teachers who have not received the necessary period of training. It also may be necessary in some cases to transport children to schools outside of their districts.

Few Vacancies in Town Schools in Missouri

Kansas City.—Regarding the supply of teachers in Missouri, Sam A. Baker, state superintendent of schools, says: "The situation in Missouri is very much as it is in Illinois. Our teachers' colleges turned out great many graduates and the certificates issued to the other standard colleges of the state has brought a number of young men and women into the profession. There are few vacancies in the town schools."

RUSSIANS AND JAPS CANNOT AGREE IN EASTERN SIBERIA

(Note: The following statement of the relations between the Japanese and the Russians in the Republic of Siberia was obtained by an Associated Press correspondent in the course of a journey from Vladivostok across Siberia and Russia to Moscow and Finland.)

[An Associated Press.]

Vorkhine-Linsk Siberia.—Representatives of the Far Eastern Republic, recently established here, have been frustrated in their efforts to make peace with the Japanese military command in Siberia by refusal of the latter to treat with them except as concerns territory west of China, according to a statement by A. M. Krasnotchko, foreign minister of the new republic, to the Associated Press correspondent. Parleys were broken off when the Russians insisted that the scope of negotiations should embrace the entire Far Eastern situation, should assume an international aspect instead of parleys between military and political representatives of the Far Eastern Republic and the Japanese.

Efforts of the Far Eastern republic to establish friendly relations with the Japanese even at the expense of surrender temporarily of sovereign rights to a wide belt of territory were rebuffed by Krasnotchko, as follows:

"Parleys between the Japanese military mission and a mission of the Far Eastern Republic were begun on May 24 at the station Gengon, between the Japanese-Senior and Russian fronts, about 70 miles west of Chita. The Japanese mission, headed by Colonel Furusawa, presented three demands, namely that the Soviet army must return west of Lake Baikal; that a neutral zone be established west of Chita, 70 miles in extent and containing no armed forces; that free transportation and communications be established between the Japanese and the Russian fronts, and that the Japanese have representation in the railway management."

"The Russians replied that the Soviet army had not progressed beyond the left bank of the Selenge river, (southwest of Lake Baikal) and that the question of their return west of Lake Baikal must be taken up by Japan with Soviet Russia."

The few who saw and heard Senator Warren
 G. Harding in Janesville this morning had one comment: "He is certainly of presidential size."
 There is no doubt about it. Each time Senator Harding has made a speech since the campaign opened he has demonstrated that he is of presidential size and has a mind attuned to the needs of the republic. The speech of the senator at the Minnesota state fair contrasts sharply with the ward politics of the candidate for the democratic nomination.

FOR CONGRESS—A ROCK COUNTY MAN.

The nomination of Henry Allen Cooper for congress over Clifford D. Randall was not entirely unexpected in the First District. But without the very large vote of Racine county where Cooper lives it would have been impossible. It has been 23 years now since the representative in congress was from any part of the district except the far eastern side. It is time that either Walworth county or Rock had a candidate backed by the people strong enough to make a successful campaign. Waukesha county, too, has been left out.
 The counties outside of Racine and Kenosha have good timber—many men of congressional size.
 Here in Janesville there are men as capable of representing the district as there are in Racine.
 This is not a matter of local pride alone—it is political justice, and here and now the counties of the district which have been voting for a long time to send Cooper back to congress should get in line for the campaign of 1922 and see that a member of congress is elected whose postoffice is neither Racine nor Kenosha.

Mr. Randall has made a good congressman. He was elected in a campaign stirred by the turmoil of war. He made good in office. But many thought Mr. Cooper had not been given a fair deal in 1918, and without anything against Mr. Randall they voted for Mr. Cooper. That was the only campaign Mr. Cooper made—vindication.
 He has that, but it does not necessarily mean that he has a life job in congress. It is rather to be doubted that with the vision necessary in public affairs, Mr. Cooper can measure up to the present. We hope he does.

SENATOR LENROOT TO BE RETURNED.

It was hardly conceivable that Senator Irvine
 L. Lenroot would be defeated for the United States senate by James Thompson, and the people of Wisconsin have settled the question decisively by voting to return Mr. Lenroot. It has been many years since the state has had so commanding a figure in the highest legislative body in the world. That may be said also with no disparagement of many distinguished men who have been representatives of the state before Senator Len-root.

Senator Lenroot is a statesman. He is a man of clean and pure personal life. He is a student and not a politician. He is forceful and insistent when he believes himself right on any question.
 He is the man of no faction in politics, receives no man's orders and is independent of anything but the people whom he serves.

It was inconceivable that the state of Wisconsin could elect a man to the United States senate
 who was the mere automaton for another senate representative—a phonograph record, or a ventri-loquist's lay figure only speaking when his master worked the strings. And Wisconsin has refused to send that man to the senate.

The returns from the election of Tuesday show that the nonpartisan league and La Follette vote is in the minority. The injection of the candidacy of Dr. Seaman seems to have succeeded in its purpose in defeating Roy P. Wilcox and nominating John J. Blaine, nonpartisan candidate, leaving the republicans of the state without a candidate in the election this fall.

THE NEED OF MORE WARDS EMPHASIZED.

One hundred and seven years ago tomorrow,
 on Sept. 8, 1843, the end came to the use of cinets was so thoroughly and emphatically demonstrated on Tuesday that there should be no further question about the action that should follow at once. We MUST have more voting precincts. We should have more wards. The con-gression in the Third ward, especially, demands that this be done. There more than 1,300 votes were cast on Tuesday when the law contemplates 600 votes in a voting place, at the outside. That is to say 600 registered voters, and in the Third ward there are close to 2,600 entitled to vote.
 Will the council start the action now? We need the wards. To refuse to act on the necessary legislation providing for them is to play the game of cheap politics.

Janesville should be divided into ten wards,
 and even if the necessary legislation cannot be concluded before the November election it ought to be started now and good faith be demonstrated.

WHY WE HAVE NO LAKE NAVY.

One hundred and seven years ago tomorrow,
 on September 10th, 1813, the end came to the use of navies on the Great Lakes by the United States and Great Britain. It was rather a drastic measure. It took Commodore Perry with a fleet of ships made rudely and hurriedly at Erie, Pa., in the winter and spring previously, to shoot the cowering argument into the British with a larger fleet and old trained sailors and sea fighters.
 The Battle of Lake Erie, remembered by the readers of history for the laconic telegram sent by Commodore Perry to Gen. William Henry Harrison,
 "We have met the enemy and they are ours," marks one of the high spots in the history of the republic.

When the treaty was made, and later with an additional treaty the fleets of ships of war were

Rent Strike in Washington

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Washington, D. C., Sept. 9.—The feverish hunt for homes at a payable figure, just now going on in almost every large American city, has attained
 a special intensity in Washington. With sweet accord the landlords have suddenly raised the rents on Washington apartments from 20 to 100 per cent, with an average in the neighborhood of 50 or 60 per cent.

The immediate result is an immense emotional upheaval, varying all the way from mild irritation to tragic despair. There are some persons whose rent has been raised from $100 a month to $200, and to whom this means nothing more than postponing the purchase of a new car. And there are others whose rents have been raised from $12 a month to $20, and to whom this means taking food away from the baby.

Every afternoon when the newspapers come out the press men and apartment hunters ready to grab them and eagerly to search the rent columns. Some of these are prosperous-looking chaps who get into cars and dash off to have the first look at the more desirable offerings. But there is also the woman with one baby in her arm, and a child of five by the hand, who wearily bears a child of the same quest, and who will be too late if the apartment is relatively a good bargain.

The situation here is especially dramatic because the Rent Act is still pending in the Supreme Court, with the betting about what to whether it will be sustained or not. Some courts have been declared unconstitutional, but on the other hand a law almost exactly like the Rent Act was recently sustained. The Rent Act, in brief, establishes a rent commission which has power to determine what is a reasonable rent for a given property. Unless a tenant takes this becomes the rent. If an appeal is taken in 60 days by any party to the complaint, the matter goes into court, but the court can only decide points of law. Thus it may hold that not all evidence has been adduced, and may compel more evidence to be taken. The commission makes another finding, which is final.

In this situation, the tenant who believes that he is being mulcted, has the basis upon which to make a fight, and thousands of them are making it. They have formed an organization known as the "Tenants' Protective League of Washington" for this purpose. The league, which has a membership fee of two dollars, gives free legal advice, and legal services for half the usual attorney's fees. It has an arrangement with a bonding company by which any of its members can be bonded, who wish to refuse to get out of their apartments.

By making use of the services of this league,
 a tenant in Washington may stay in his apartment at the old rent, and defy his landlord, at least with considerable success. When he receives the notice to get out within 30 days, he simply pays no attention to it. The landlord then goes into court to get a writ of eviction. One of the league attorneys appears and notes an appeal.
 This means that the case cannot be decided until the constitutionality of the act has been passed upon by the Supreme Court.

If the Supreme Court holds the act unconstitutional,
 then the writ of eviction can be issued, and the tenant can be put out. But that is about all that can happen to him, according to the attorneys for the league, and it is not apt to happen for a long time. Here the well known delays of the law, which usually benefit the stronger party, are piling up so that many of these being evicted will not be reached for a couple of years, during all of which time the tenant will be enjoying the use of the apartment at the old rent. Furthermore, these attorneys say that no action for the additional rent, which the tenant refused to pay will be effective unless the landlord has refused to accept the old rent, which is paid by the tenant to the bonding company.

The total cost of thus noting an appeal and resisting eviction, provided the machinery of the league is used, is about $80. In the event that the Rent Act is sustained by the Supreme Court, and the tenant wins in the action for a writ of eviction, he will get back all but $27 of this money.

By course the landlord may combat in various ways the desire of the tenant to stay in the apartment. He may cut off the heat, the light, the gas or the telephone service, and perhaps if he is the ingenious he may find other ways of making the tenant's life miserable. Cases of this kind are usually, however, of a sort of guerrilla warfare is

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

WONT, THE GIANT.
 "There are no giants today," said he,
 "As big as the ones that used to be."
 "Oh, who did you think they were?"
 "And where did they go and why did they die?"
 And if they existed in older times
 To frighten the people with all their crimes.

In spite of what somebody else may say
 I am certain the giants still live today.
 "Now I happen to know of a giant here With a mouth that stretches from ear to ear
 And a terrible face and his hair's like wire
 And it stands on end and it shoots out fire.
 His particular joy is to make boys bad
 And their fathers and mothers and grand-folks sad.
 The grown-ups see him, but children
 don't
 And the name of this horrible man is Wont."

"That's a funny name, but it's his all right.
 And he comes by day, and he comes by night.
 When you least expect him or never should
 To spoil the peace of the neighborhood.
 Why don't we kill him? Well that is queer:
 The grown-ups have tried it year after year.

But he's something we haven't the power
 to do:
 Wont! must be killed by a boy like you.
 "You see, it's this way: Every girl and boy
 This terrible giant can soon destroy.
 But men can't do it, and he's not today.
 You had better chance when I heard you say:
 'I won't!' to your mother when she asked you
 Just to do something you ought to do.
 Now if you had said when she asked,
 and said:
 'Why, sure I will!' you'd have killed him dead."

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

By ROY K. MOULTON.

Some editors seem in doubt as to whom they should support during the present election.
 They are torn between the "Democrat" and the "Republican" official organ of the democratic party of Lawrence county. He is trying to make it popular or snappy or something by publishing the following candidacies at the head of his editorial column:

For President.
 JAMES M. DILL, of Ohio.
 For Vice President.
 CALVIN COOLIDGE, of Massachusetts.

 holds a revolver at him, and knocked the robber down."—San Diego (Cal.)

Who's Who Today

VISCOUNT CAVE.
 Viscount Cave, who recently arrived in New York to attend as Great Britain's chief representative the important meeting of the American Bar Association, is one of the $30,000 a year lords of appeal, who sit on the benches of the highest court of appeal in the British realm.

His name is not unfamiliar to the people of the United States. For during the first two years of the war he acted as the principal legal adviser of the foreign office.
 In London in all matters relating to contraband and to blockade, and it was largely owing to his sagacious judgment and his breadth of view, that the blockade measures were applied in a very liberal and manner where American shipping was concerned.

Lord Cave's arduous work at the foreign office was done over and above his ordinary duties as solicitor general of England without additional emolument and from a purely patriotic desire to be of assistance in the war.
 When Lloyd George formed his cabinet in the late fall of 1916 he selected the secretary-of state for the home department to Sir George Cave—as it carried with it the responsibility for the preservation of law and order and the control of all enemy aliens in the country.
 Two years ago he was appointed to be a lord of appeal and at the same time was raised to the peerage as a viscount.

He is a son of the late Thomas Cave, M. P., who belonged to a family that has been settled in Wiltshire since the beginning of the fifteenth century. He is one of the Matthews of Crewkerne, in Somersetshire, is a Conservative in politics, has been in parliament since 1906, and was the Prince of Wales, time attorney general as well as a member of the latter's council.
 These two offices brought him into close and intimate contact with the reigning family and won him a very marked degree of the favor of King George and Queen Mary.

STIMULATION VERSUS WORK.

A cigarette fiend is notoriously underfed and inefficient, therefore many shrewd employers will not have him around the place.
 Accurate physiological and psychological measurements of a number of college students made a few years ago by Dr. Bush of Vermont, clearly proved that the immediate effect of a smoke upon a young man accustomed to smoking or one habituated is not at all what could be called stimulation. It is rather a dope effect, depression. The effect on the brain and nervous system is inhibition. The young man's response to ordinary demands comes from ten to twenty per cent below that of a non-smoker. It is when he is not under the influence of tobacco. That amounts to a narcotic influence, and of course we know that tobacco, like alcohol, is narcotic and depressant from first to last, although these drugs are popularly termed "stimulants."

The earlier a man begins using tobacco the less inclination does he show for participation in wholesome, manly athletics. The confirmed cigarette and pipe smoker or cigarette fiend—naturally shows such participation because his drug until him for successfully competing with his clean and shrewd fellow men out of the game. Once in a while a youth seems to attain a certain degree of success in athletics in spite of his tobacco habit, but this is due to extraordinary or phenomenal. If such a youth could be persuaded to free himself from the drug, his possibilities would be greatly increased. For such success as he has managed to attain with only 75 to 90 per cent efficiency would certainly not suffer
 a decline if he were made completely efficient. The average man could contend 100 per cent efficient.
 This and other forms of so-called stimulation are resorted to as a substitute for muscular exertion.
 Be it said, however, that work or athletic work or just healthful recreation, the human body craves it and must have it or some substitute, but you live on a diet of stimulants and you long without serious injury to your health. Muscles are atrophied on the frame to do work, and they will do it if you give them a chance.

I am receiving a lot of anti-tobacco tracts from a lot of salaried reformers who wish to enlist my aid for the cause. If the professional cruditudes would spend the money

rather to provide adequate playgrounds, gymnasiums and swimming pools for the young in city and villages, they might deal a telling blow to tobacco.
 Muscular exercise is the best antidote for the tobacco craving, and muscular work of any nature completely kills the nervous urge which the pampered youth strives in vain
 to satisfy with cigarettes.

 Write and Ask Me.
 Please tell me some way to reduce fat about the hips and abdomen with-

 disabled. (C. G. V.) ANSWER.—1. Stand erect and squat until your knees touch, shoulders
 then up to starting position.
 2. Stand on one foot and, rising slightly on the toes, lift as high as possible backward. Repeat with the opposite side.
 3. If (or when) you are sitting, raise both legs to vertical and lower them slowly again, without lifting head
 from floor.
 Do these exercises regularly night
 and morning, and gradually increase the number of times each movement is made, until you can go as high as twenty to thirty times without undue fatigue.

FOODS CONTAINING PHOSPHORUS.
 What food contains phosphorus?
 What fruits and vegetables, and what grains? (A. M.)
 ANSWER.—Foods rich in phosphorus
 are milk, graham and entire wheat flour,
 oatmeal, hominy, beans, dried peas,
 apples, grapes, dried apricots, prunes, peaches, are particularly rich in phosphorus in the form of phosphates. The only vegetable source of phosphorus, as a refined corn meal. Polished rice contains little or no phosphorus. Rice contains much.

THE DIARY OF AN ENGAGED GIRL

AUNT CECILIA'S HAPPIEST HOUR

September 1st.—All is well, very well. Jeffery arrived early yesterday morning, pulled in to the Great Western station, to be enveloped in the loving arms of his best beloved "Cecilia," who had been waiting in the most feminine and painstaking mood for him for one hour, yes sir, by the clock! She would have us tumbled down there early, just as we should arrive earlier than her telegram had stated. And, oh, the glow of happiness in her eyes! When the train pulled in she gave a gasp and covered her two bright eyes with her hands for an instant, as though it was a sacrilege for them to be seen by the mere passer-by. I told her to stretch out or she'd miss him, and then for one whole moment I felt quite sick inside, with longing and an ache for my Jack. I tried to imagine that he was about to step off this train, and found myself really very much alike.

And then he came, looking very healthy and tanned after his week on the boat, and ever since the loving judging from the light in his eyes, which were a-dance and possessive. But here I turned my head.

That kiss of theirs! In spite of the people it lasted, and it was really the happiest moment of their lives. I felt sure. Then Jack turned and kissed me, and plucked my cheek and told me that I looked a little pale, and had I missed America?

I guess he saw the boy of the land for he didn't tease me at all, only said that he had been awfully keen on getting over and helping us all to have a good time. He had finished up his work and was at our disposal for just as long as we wanted to be. This letter with a meaning glance into "Cecilia's" eyes.

She blushed an adorable pink and reached his hand as she assured me that we had all been looking forward to his arrival, eagerly.

Heart and Home Problems

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON
Letters May be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in Care of the Gazette

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl twenty-one and am engaged as well as in love with the one man of my heart and the only one I can truly love, as I have tried many. He is a fine fellow of twenty-three years and well-liked by my parents.

He came back from service last October and stayed at our home for two weeks. Then he left for his home in Denver, where he has a fine position.

We had the date set for the next June (1920) and he really seemed anxious that we should marry. He wrote every week or so, and he said he could hardly wait until he was ready to get married. I asked him to come back to see me in September (1920). Since then I have received very few letters from him, but the ones I do receive are as dear as ever and he writes me as dear as ever and he writes me as dear as ever.

Do you think I should have asked his advice on changing the date as I did? He seems to think my folks don't want me to marry him and all I can write does not convince him that they like him.

Do you think it could be our ten month's separation that has made him forget about me? I could never happen to meet on the street or always sit with me. Another thing both happened to go on an outing the same time and when we stopped for lunch he stayed with me all the time and we tramped and rambled together most all the while. When we are at parties he always smiles at me and he looks at me constantly. If we play any games he always chooses me.

Would it be all right for me to drop him a card?

Yes, I believe that the ten month's separation has made a difference. Probably it has not made the young man love you less, but in that time he has found deep interest in his work and he no longer thinks so much about letter writing.

If he still counts on a September wedding, stop worrying. You must judge from his letters. If they show a sincere love for you, you may be sure he is true, but not a faithful letter writer. If, however, he seemed to be searching for a way to get out of a September wedding, you would have reason to doubt his love. I think it was all right for you to ask his advice about changing the date of the wedding.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl nineteen years old. There is a boy the same age whom I like very much. I know he used to like me because he was up home about three or four nights a week. Then he started going with another girl. He is going away to school next week. I want to win him back.

I have started taking music lessons so that I can play when he comes back. I am considered good-looking.

He is always so nice. When we happen to meet on the street or always sit with me. Another thing both happened to go on an outing the same time and when we stopped for lunch he stayed with me all the time and we tramped and rambled together most all the while. When we are at parties he always smiles at me and he looks at me constantly. If we play any games he always chooses me.

Would it be all right for me to drop him a card?

Yes, I believe that the ten month's separation has made a difference. Probably it has not made the young man love you less, but in that time he has found deep interest in his work and he no longer thinks so much about letter writing.

If he still counts on a September wedding, stop worrying. You must judge from his letters. If they show a sincere love for you, you may be sure he is true, but not a faithful letter writer. If, however, he seemed to be searching for a way to get out of a September wedding, you would have reason to doubt his love. I think it was all right for you to ask his advice about changing the date of the wedding.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl nineteen years old. There is a boy the same age whom I like very much. I know he used to like me because he was up home about three or four nights a week. Then he started going with another girl. He is going away to school next week. I want to win him back.

I have started taking music lessons so that I can play when he comes back. I am considered good-looking.

He is always so nice. When we happen to meet on the street or always sit with me. Another thing both happened to go on an outing the same time and when we stopped for lunch he stayed with me all the time and we tramped and rambled together most all the while. When we are at parties he always smiles at me and he looks at me constantly. If we play any games he always chooses me.

Would it be all right for me to drop him a card?

75 Attend First H. S. Football Meeting of Season

COACH PEPS UP BOYS WITH TALK ON HIS SCHEMES

About 75 boys of the high school came out for football yesterday afternoon in the first meeting of the season. It was the biggest crowd that ever reported to start the season out. Practice is planned to start at fourth ward park at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Bentleyman ran high. Coach Reynolds drilled into the students the fact that they have got to get down to business if they hope to make any kind of success of the sport and take a place in the part of the country. Training was emphasized as an absolute necessity to put the team on the map. Regularly in bed time and in eating were dwelt upon as essential.

Orders Training

"Train or you'll get knocked cold," was the gist of the talk.

Long and short of it, Coach Reynolds and place kicking will be the features of all training for the team. Despite the fact that the material available is light-weight, Coach Reynolds is going at the game in a spirit that will tell a good story if the boys get in behind him and work.

"You don't have to know anything about football to get out for practice," he said. "What we want is the spirit, the knowledge will come afterwards."

New Sweaters

It was stated at the meeting that new sweaters have been bought for the team and they will be on hand in a short time. Who will get them is a matter that will not be settled until Coach Reynolds begins picking his team.

A good second team, which has been lacking in the past, will be one of the jobs that Coach Reynolds will work for. He impressed upon the candidates that the gathering of the team must be willing to play on the second, declaring that it is foolish to believe that everybody must be the first in the backfield and on the line and not continue to help.

School spirit, he explained, demands that the athletes keep their feet on the ground and get a top place on a lower one.

Three of last year's letter men are back. Grady, Tucker, Hager, and Newman, half, will be out for practice. Kinney may also be back.

Girl, Hit by Golf Ball, Begs Pardon

New York, Sept. 9.—How golf gets into the system was demonstrated at the Engineers' course on Tuesday. Maurice Risley of Atlantic City slammed a brassie shot in the general direction of the ninth green. The ball struck a big oak tree and hit a young woman who was standing there. It was a powerful hit and she was hurt. The ball hit her in the side. A friend rushed to her aid, but after admitting she was hurt, she dismissed the incident and went to Risley: "I'm so sorry I spoiled your shot."

BIG BOWLERS' MEET CALLED FOR TONIGHT

First big bowling meeting of the City Bowling association under the new regime of officers takes place at City hall tonight at 8 o'clock. Every indication points not only to a big attendance of players but a session brimful of enthusiasm.

One of the best supported sports in the city, bowling will probably take a jump at the meeting tonight. The officers have been working at high pitch getting things lined up so that the season can start off with a bang the first of October.

The outlook is that in addition to the City league there will be two others. It is expected that the old Industrial-Commercial league will be split up into Commercial league and an Industrial league to better take care of the increased number of men.

Schedules are ready for the City league. All that is necessary is to write in the names of the teams in their appropriate places.

Women are urged to attend tonight's meeting and join in the movement to inaugurate a women's league.

YANKS LEAVE MAYS BEHIND ON TRIP

New York, Sept. 9.—Carl Mays, New York American league pitcher who threw the ball which resulted in the death of Shortstop Ray Chapman of the Cleveland team, did not accompany the Yankees when they left here Tuesday on their western trip. Col. P. L. Houston, one of the club owners, announced that Mays would not be with the team during the series which opens in Cleveland, Thursday, but that he would rejoin the club in Detroit.

"We are not taking Mays to Cleveland," said Col. Houston, "not because we think there is danger of any trouble but out of respect to the feelings of the people there. We don't want to offend them. It is largely a matter of sentiment."

SAMSONS-FAIRIES ARE HELD UP BY RAIN AT EVANSVILLE GROUNDS

Old Jupe Plevius got in his dirty work this morning and halted the playing of the game between the Samsons and the Fairies at the Evansville fair. At 10 o'clock when the game was to be called, rain was falling.

Announcement was immediately made by the fair officials that the game would not be played today. There is some chance that it may be put on for Friday morning, but the matter is still undecided. The game scheduled for Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock will be played as arranged.

Francis Quimet led Frank D. Armour 5 up when they had played half of their 36 hole match in today's round of the national amateur golf tournament.

"Chick" Evans was six up on W. C. Townes, Jr., after playing 13 holes.

Bobby Jones of Atlanta, was 5 up on P. J. Wright, Jr., the young Massachusetts star when they had played 18 holes. Jones went the round in 71, equalling the best that has ever been done on the course, the par of which is 70.

ALLIS, MILWAUKEE, PLAYING STRONG GOLF

New York, Sept. 9.—E. F. Allis, Milwaukee, former intercollegiate and Wisconsin amateur golf champion, caused mourning in the metropolitan district by putting out one of its favorites, Oswald Kirby, after a hard struggle that was carried to the thirty-ninth hole. Kirby had held the metropolitan title three times, and the defeat of this crack brought Allis great glory.

Francis Quimet led Frank D. Armour 5 up when they had played half of their 36 hole match in today's round of the national amateur golf tournament.

"Chick" Evans was six up on W. C. Townes, Jr., after playing 13 holes.

WALSH WILL PITCH FOR MADISON AGAINST SAMSON SATURDAY

Some Samson pitcher is going to win Saturday when the Samson Tractors clash with the Kippis of Madison at Madison in two games over the week-end.

Slim Walsh will pitch for Madison Saturday. There's where the game is going to prove intensely interesting. As the dope now appears, Manager Perring of the Samsons will shoot Jack Wooten in against him.

Slim has been twirling for the Madison team for the past four weeks, been given good support and has been winning. And, he says, "I'm going to work my head off to whip my teammates Saturday."

The Kippis have been playing some strong teams of this part of the country.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, accompanied by Manager Jack Kearns and party of newspaper correspondents, left Wednesday afternoon for New York, where Kearns hopes to close matches with Gunboat Smith, the San Francisco heavyweight, and Bill Brennan of Chicago. The match with Smith is tentatively set for Boston on Sept. 28. Dempsey's contract with Brennan probably will be decided in New York.

While Dempsey was preparing to leave for the train he learned that Billy Miske, his opponent in the Labor day battle at Benton Harbor, Mich., was in the hotel dining room having lunch with Mrs. Miske. The champion immediately deserted a party of his friends to find Miske and his party. They chatted pleasantly for a few minutes and parted with a heavy handshake.

Before leaving Benton Harbor, Dempsey presented Mrs. Floyd W. Simmons, wife of the promoter of the Labor day contest, with a $10,000 automobile.

Miske will return to his home in St. Paul on Thursday for a hunting trip before accepting any matches.

LUCKY STRIKE

"IT'S TOASTED"

LUCKY STRIKE cigarette—it's toasted. Lucky Strike tobacco—it's toasted. Both are toasted. You cannot get the remarkable and unusual flavor of toasted Burley tobacco in any other brand.

How is it that this toasting process preserves so successfully the original Burley flavor? Because it's sealed in.

Take the case of the bee and the honey. The bees have the right idea. To lock in that fragrant and delightful flavor of clover honey they put a thin coating of wax over the whole honey-comb.

You know yourself that honey can stand unbroken on a shelf for months or years, and be just as good when it's used.

And that's what happens with the Burley tobacco used in making Lucky Strike.

In each Burley leaf there are little pores like a sponge. In the heat of toasting these pores are sealed. The Burley flavor is there, inside.

When you light your Lucky Strike cigarette or your pipe full of Lucky Strike tobacco the heat releases the Burley flavor for your benefit.
